Higher Education: Time for Self Regulatory Autonomy

Bhagwati Prakash*

Higher Education in its present state in India appears to be grossly disadvantaged in keeping pace with the fast escalating global benchmarks of quality and innovativeness. It is also said to be disjunct with our ethos, values and heritage and has also not been succeeding well to ingrain requisite ethics and morals in the conduct and behaviour of the graduating youth. The quality deficit in education, places India at 60th rank in the Global Innovations Index (GII)<sup>1</sup> and keeping it devoid of any place among the top 50 international destinations for higher education. India is able to attract only a miniscule 0.61 % of the international students from abroad to study in India.<sup>2</sup> Our patent filings under the Patent Cooperation Treaty (PCT) too have been very meager at 1529 in 2016, against a large tally of 56,595, 45,239 and 43,168 respectively for the US, Japan, and China. In the field of nanotechnology, we have 14 international patents and 5000 research papers to our credit for all IITs together since 1970s. Whereas, the Chinese Academy of Sciences fathoms ahead of us with 705 international patents and 29,591 research publications. No Indian could secure a single Nobel Prize for his/her research conducted in India after Bharat Ratna Dr. C.V. Raman in 1930.<sup>3</sup> There are universities with double digit Nobel Winners from tiny countries like Denmark, Sweden and Switzerland, having a miniscule population of 50 to 90 lacs. The highest number of 151 is from Harvard University, though a Private University.<sup>4</sup> Moreover, out of top 10 universities with maximum Nobel laureates 8 are American private universities having 60 to 151 Nobel laureates. These universities are, Harvard, Columbia, University of California, University of Chicago, MIT, California Institute of Technology, and Stanford. In India as well some of the private universities inspite of some discrimination, are doing well and can further outshine, if given a facilitating environment. Even, to date these are 11 private universities out of total 36 universities, including the elite institutes, ranking in top 1100 universities ranked by the Times Higher Education.

With respect to the integration of higher education with our heritage, one finds that till date we have been teaching the same outcast Aryan invasion theory, coined out of the European colonial politics in India. It has altogether been refuted by the present day archeological and other studies, to be discussed in later part of this article. Besides, the infinite narratives embedded in our ancient scriptures, corroborating the present age scientific wisdom as well as several postulates of various social sciences and humanities, including the Economics, Geography, Political Science, Public Administration, Psychology, Sociology, Linguistic, etc., find no place into our curricula and suggested readings. Endeavours to ingrain values, ethics and national ethos in the conduct and behaviour of

Lower Parel, Mumbai 400 013, India

Increase in Subscription Rates

The EPW is compelled to raise the digital subscription rates on account of Goods and Services Tax (GST) being applicable to digital subscriptions. The GST rate for Online Information Data Base Access and Retrieval (OIDAR) is 18%. The category Print plus Digital will also attract 18% as GST. The subscription rates quoted are inclusive of the 18% GST rate, which is applicable on digital subscriptions.

Notes for Contributors

Contributors are requested to follow EPW's style sheet while preparing their articles. The style sheet is posted on EPW's website at <http://www.epw.in/terms-policy/style-sheet.html>. It will help immensely for faster processing and error-free editing if writers follow the recommended style sheet, especially with regard to citation and preparation of the bibliography.

Special Articles

EPW welcomes original research papers in any of the social sciences.

- Articles must be no more than 8,000 words long, including notes and references. Longer articles will not be processed.
- Contributions should be sent preferably by email.
- Special articles should be accompanied by an abstract of a maximum of 200 words.
- Papers should not have been simultaneously submitted for publication to another journal or newspaper. If the paper has appeared earlier in a different version, we would appreciate a copy of this along with the submitted paper.
- Graphs and charts need to be prepared in MS Office (Word/Excel) and not in jpeg or other formats.
- Receipt of articles will be immediately acknowledged by email.
- Every effort is taken to complete early processing of the papers we receive. However, we receive 70 articles every week and adequate time has to be provided for internal reading and external refereeing. It can therefore take up to four months for a final decision on whether the paper for the Special Article section is accepted for publication.

- Articles accepted for publication can take up to six to eight months from date of acceptance to appear in the EPW. Papers with immediate relevance for policy would be considered for early publication. Please note that this is a matter of editorial judgment.

Commentary

EPW invites short contributions to the 'Commentary' section on topical social, economic and political developments. These should ideally be between 1,000 and 2,500 words.

A decision on Commentary-length articles will be communicated within 6-8 weeks, or earlier.

Keywords

Authors are requested to list six to eight keywords for their articles.

Book Reviews

EPW sends out books for review. It does not normally accept unsolicited reviews. However, all reviews that are received are read with interest and unsolicited review on occasion is considered for publication.

Discussion

EPW encourages researchers to comment on articles published in EPW. Submissions should be 800 to 1,600 words.

Letters

Readers of EPW are encouraged to comment (300 words) on published articles.

All letters should have the writer's full name and postal address.

Postscript

EPW welcomes submissions of 600-800 words on travel, literature, dance, music and films for publication in this section.

General Guidelines

- Writers are requested to provide full details for correspondence: postal address, day-time phone numbers and email address.
- EPW requests writers not to send revised versions based on stylistic changes/additions, deletions of references, minor changes, etc, as this poses challenges in processing. Revised versions will not be processed. When there are major developments in the field of study after the first submission, authors can send a revised version.
- Copyright
- EPW posts all published articles on its website and may reproduce them on CDs.
- EPW also posts all published articles on select databases.
- Copyright of all articles published in the Journal belongs to the author or to the organisation where the author is employed as determined by the author's terms of employment.
- Permission for Reproduction
- No published article or part thereof should be reproduced in any form without prior permission of the author(s).
- A soft/hard copy of the author(s)'s approval should be sent to EPW.
